

[illegible]

The graph illustrates a periodic signal over time. The vertical axis is labeled 'Amplitude' and the horizontal axis is labeled 'Time duration'. The signal consists of a series of pulses. Each pulse has a constant amplitude and contains a sinusoidal waveform. The pulses are separated by intervals where the amplitude is zero, indicating a periodic on-off or pulse-width modulation signal.

Fig. 2